The Mirasys advantage

Open Platform Approach:

A fully open and manufacturer independent surveillance system that is easy to integrate with cameras, other devices, and systems from other manufacturers. For example, Mirasys supports over 2000 IP camera models from leading manufacturers. Any type of Video Content Analysis (VCA) system or algorithm can be integrated with Mirasys VMS.

Easiness:

Ease of use, deployment, installation, license handling and system management.

Total Cost of Ownership:

Mirasys' target is to lower the total costs of ownership in every new release launched.

Unrivaled Scalability:

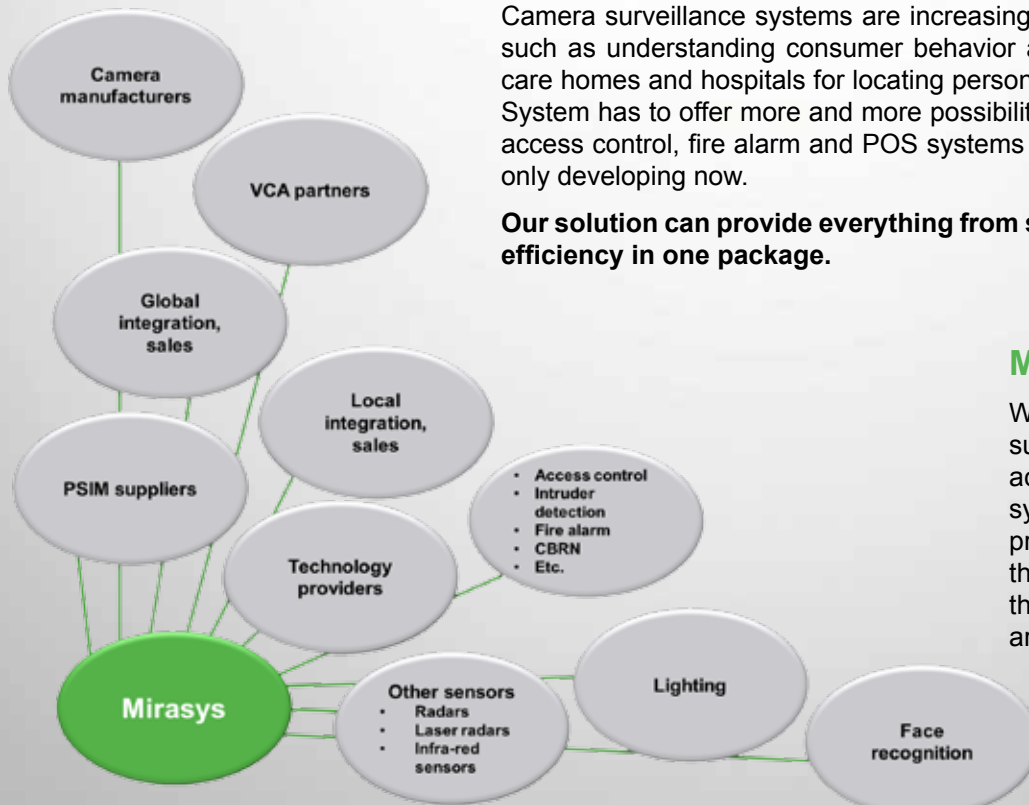

The system scales effortlessly along with your businesses and needs.

Future-proof:

Open platform management system supports the newest network (IP) cameras and legacy analog cameras alike, allowing an easy transition between the technologies.

Camera surveillance systems are increasingly used in non-security applications too such as understanding consumer behavior and buying patterns, or in day centers, care homes and hospitals for locating personnel and customers. Video Management System has to offer more and more possibilities of integrations not only to traditional access control, fire alarm and POS systems but also to new future systems that are only developing now.

Our solution can provide everything from security and protection to operational efficiency in one package.
